POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

We are coming to the close of another municipal campaign and I wish at this time to thank my opponents for the attitude they have shown in conducting such a fair and clean campaign.

I have the greatest respect for my opponent, knowing him to be a highly respected citizen and I feel that he thinks the same about me.

I served as Mayor of Rockland for a period of four years, a period which witnessed a depression that has never been equalled in the history of our City and Nation. I feel that my experience as Mayor during those trying times is not only valuable to our City but has especially fitted and enabled me to be well qualified to administer the affairs of the City and the needs of the people.

I want to emphasize the fact that I am not pledged to any person for any position should I be elected.

If the citizens of Rockland feel that I have served them well in the past and if they have confidence in me that I may be qualified to serve them well during the next administration only thinking of the best interests of our City regardless of party and with only this thought in mind of serving faithfully and to the best of my ability all of our citizens, I earnestly solicit your support at the Polls on Monday, December 6.

All persons desiring to be carried to the polls by the Democratic cars may call any of the numbers listed below:

Borings Are Made

And Washington Rules That This Marks Beginning On Deer Isle Bridge

The tension by reason of the much discussed Dec. 1 deadline for the construction on the Deer Isle-Bedford bridge was taken care of by an eleventh hour ruling from Washington that the borings would be accepted as "beginning of construction." Technically, therefore, and as far as the PWA is concerned, the bridge now has been under construction for slightly more than two weeks.

Mr. Robinson of Robinson and Steinman, consulting engineers, New York, has personally supervised the boring operations at Eggemoggin Reach. Rough weather, common to the coast at this season, has retarded the progress, but at latest report they were nearly completed.

Although the time limit on the construction bids expired at 12 o'clock Thursday night, assurance has been given that the time will be extended.

BOOSTS WOOD PULP

The demand for wood pulp in the rayon, cellophane, film and resin industries has been so marked in recent years that sales of Brown Company, New England's largest pulp producer, have climbed from only $10,929,000 in 1933 to an estimated $25,151,000 this year, officials state.

Alderman from Ward Four

Candidate for re-election on the Democratic ticket.

It has been an honor and a pleasure to serve our city, especially the citizens of Ward Four, as alderman for the past two years. I would like to do so again. If it is your minds, and you feel that my previous record is deserving in this, I have but one request: simply go to the polls on Monday, December 6, and cast your vote for me.

Signed,

RAYMOND C.

WHY THEY'RE VOTING FOR VEAZIE

Editorial

The quietness which apparently marks the municipal campaign in this city is surface silence, only. Beneath that surface the leaders of both parties are conducting a vigorous and systematic campaign which should serve to call out a very large vote next Monday.

The Democrats, still tasting the blood of victory which came to them by the scant margin of one vote in 1931, are reluctant to surrender their positions after eight years' occupancy, are pulling every straw, and if rumor is correct have made many promises which could not possibly be fulfilled. The Republicans are charged by their opponents with employing the same tactics, but The Courier-Gazette is authorized by the city committee to challenge anybody to prove that a solitary pledge has been made. There are, it is true, not a few Republicans who are seeking city positions, and all are assured that their claims will receive fair consideration, but no actual or implied promise has been made. If Edward R. Veazie is elected mayor he will go into office, embarrassed by no handicaps, and pledged to show no partiality.

The outlook of next Monday's election is dimmed by the fact that no comparisons can be deduced from the last biennial election when the present mayor, Leforest A. Thurston was the nominee of both parties. In that election, however, the Republicans elected five of their six candidates for aldermen, and endorsed one of the two Democrats who was elected.

The latest election straw is furnished by the State election of last year when the Republicans carried the city by 1100, winning in every ward. While it is, perhaps, true that the Republican party always makes a better showing in State and Presidential elections than it does in city elections, the fact remains that the Democratic party in 1936 exerted its utmost power to win, and the result was a complete rout. Even Louis J. Brann, the party's "white hope," was defeated by 565 votes. It needs no supernatural analysis to show that some of the present Democratic claims are "hoovey" and made in the same manner that the boy whistles when he passes a graveyard—to keep up his courage. That, too, is perfectly within their rights.

The Republicans are making no extravagant claims for next Monday, although they would feel justified in so doing, in view of the assurances which have come from Democrats as well as Republicans in every ward of the city.

Mr. Veazie's candidacy has met with a most gratifying and spontaneous result. In him the taxpayers see a man who had an excellent record in his personal business affairs; who performed outstanding service with the Naval Forces during the World War, and who gave a most excellent account of himself while holding the offices of city clerk, county treasurer and postmaster. A man who would give to the office of mayor valuable experience, impartial service, and fine character.

Rockland's Big and Novel Event Is Exciting No End Of Interest

Rockland's big Hobby Show will open its doors to the public next Tuesday evening at 6:30 and will remain open until 11 o'clock. Wednesday afternoon the doors will open at 2 o'clock, and remain open until 10 o'clock.

The program in the evenings will include, in addition to the multitude of exhibits with their interminable interest, the following featured stage presentations:

Tuesday
7:45 p. m., Finnish Folk Dances and songs in native costume, by a group of Finnish girls.
8 p. m., elaborate procession of wedding gowns from 1775 to 1937, including a "Tom Thumb" bride and groom.

Wednesday
7:45 Finnish Folk Dances, (repeated).
8 p. m., Wedding Gown procession (repeated).
8:45 "Phipps," a one-act play presented by Rockland's new Theatre Guild.

Plans are not yet quite complete regarding stage presentations for Wednesday afternoon, but it is hoped that some attractive specialties will be presented.

The Hobby Show is just around the corner! Will you be at the Community Building Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. to greet hobby enthusiasts? If you are not, you will want to come in between 6:30-11 on Tuesday or 2 to 10 Wednesday. The admission is 25 cents to adults and 15 cents to Junior High students and other children.

All committees have worked faithfully to present the best that can be expected. All visitors will want to send a message to a friend by telegram. Mr. Gray of Thomaston has engaged Winfield Ramsdell of Portland to be on hand. All "hams" will want to assist in these hobby greetings.

ROCKLAND IN OTHER DAYS

Some Interesting Recollections In a Lecture Prepared For the Local Service Clubs

(By E. L. Brown)

When I was 18 years old, I came to Rockland to enter the Commercial College as a student. My present partner in business, Henry A. Howard, showed me some penmanship and I resolved to become a penman. Soon after I met the famous penman A. R. Dunton, through the kindness of Hon. T. R. Simon-ton, attorney and publisher of the Camden Herald. Mr. Simon-ton was a brother of Fred and Theodore who came to Rockland and opened a dry goods store under the name of Simon-ton Brothers. For many years this the electric road. Porterfield Ledges Park and it was a favorite place for picnics, long before the day of the R.T.C. Street Railway. Incidentally it is one of the most beautiful spots on the coast: an ideal location for a summer theatre similar to those of Lakewood and Boothbay, which apparently are successful enterprises.

Thirty-five years ago I broke into politics and was elected Alderman from Ward 1, and served with six good Republicans. E. K. Gould was Mayor, Enoch Devies was city clerk. Gould and Brown are the only living members of the Upper Board as it was called before the new charter was adopted. The municipal year was rather colorful in some respects.

During the year we were called upon to settle many important questions, among them that of double-tracking Main street from Rankin Block to Park. A most ridiculous plan when the narrowness of Main street is considered. A fight was on—the day for decision was at hand. The Common Council rooms were packed to the doors with interested citizens. Orators for and against the proposition waxed eloquent. Among the prominent men present was George Mcomber of Augusta, president of the road. Naturally he argued for double track.

A. D. Bird, treasurer of the electric road at the time, asked me to present the order for the double track. I asked to be excused from doing this, but he insisted, even after he knew I was not in favor of the proposition. I want you gentlemen to know that my vote was NO in capital letters. Many merchants thought a double track on Main Street would help business—the folly of such an idea is apparent.

The vote resulted in a tie and Mayor Gould broke the tie, and it required courage on his part to do this, under the circumstances—Ed. Gould was not one to let politics stand in the way of duty.

Forms of entertainment have changed. There was a time when Rockland's theatrical attractions were few and far between. During the winter we might have four or five outstanding attractions in Farwell Opera House, now Masonic Temple. Tickets were usually on sale at Speer, May & Stover's, where floor plan of seats could be seen.

In those days, however, Rockland was privileged to see big city attractions with famous actors and actresses in the leading roles. Among the famous stars of the stage appearing in this city in the past were: Robert B. Maltell, Henry E. Dixey, Alexander Salvini, James O'Neill, Nance O'Neill and Thomas Q. Seabrooke. Alexander Salvini was one of the greatest romantic actors of his time and son of the famous Tommaso Salvini. The younger man brought to Rockland his favorite play "The Three Guardsmen" and gave it in the old skating rink on Spring street which was used for time as a theatre. It is said that Alexander's father was not greatly impressed with his son's early attempts at acting, and told him he would better do his acting back of a barn where no one would see him. The elder Salvini came to this country before my memory and gave his plays in Italian. He lived, however, to see his son become famous on two continents as an actor. When we were in Florence, Italy, a few years ago we were reminded that it was the home and last resting place of these famous Italian actors.

Henry E. Dixey was a fine actor of his time—came here in his favorite part "Adonis" in a musical extravaganza of the same name. A little incident happened before the show. Dixey imbibed rather too freely and only by frantic efforts of members of his company was he able to appear at the rise of the curtain. Dixey's impersonation of Irving was an artistic triumph.

Shepard's moving pictures were shown in Rockland many years ago in the earliest period of the moving picture industry. Some time later a man named Poudrey appeared in town. Prof. Poudrey was a musician. He married A. J. Small's daughter and was favorably known in musical circles. He claimed the distinction of starting the first moving picture theatre in Rockland, in a building south of the Burpee Furniture Co.'s store. In Achorn Cemetery you will find this a part of the inscription on his gravestone—"Introduced moving pictures in Rockland."

At least two well known actresses were born in this city. One was talented. (Continued on Page Eight)

OXFORD BELLS

Always the ghost of those will wake again. When other bells have clamored and been still— Nowhere are bells that half so sweetly The shaken tower, the drifting flares of rain— Of myriad sounds these only will remain. Even water poured all night under a mill May be forgot, but on a distant hill When carillons die out across the plain, There will come back some morning's purr Of bells, peal after peal of silver song, Madalene's sweet tune, or the tumultuous chiming Of all the bells on some high noon in gliee. Reverberant, or, echoing deep and long, The bell of Christ's tolling his hundred times. —Blister Maria Stella.

Relief Corps Fair

Added $134 To the Treasury, a Sum Not To Be Sneezed At

Exceeding all expectations and most gratifying to the busy committees in charge, the Edwin Libby Relief Corps fair went over with flying colors, adding $134 to the treasury. Prettily decorated booths added greatly to the cozy interior of Grand Army hall, a crowd being in attendance at the fair, public supper and entertainment. Supported by the enthusiasm and interest of all members, much credit is due the several chairmen—apron table, Mrs. Inez Packard; food, Mrs. Riah Knight; candy, Mrs. Doris Ames; beans, Mrs. Velma Marsh; and grab, Mrs. Lena Rollins, who had able assistants.

The largely attended supper was followed by an enjoyable program in charge of Mrs. Eliza Plummer, who presented, trumpet and saxophone duet, Virginia Rockcliffe and Dudley Harvey; tap dance by Miss Molloy's pupils; those in the group being Virginia Chapman, Nadine Fuller, Gloria Stone, Beverly Cogan, and Ralph Studley; skit, followed by harmonica playing, Dick Sullivan and Dudley Harvey.

Many attractive articles were won the bed spread, given by Mrs. Jennie Allen, going to Lee Morse; quilt, Mrs. Inez Packard; table lamp, Mrs. Vina Varney; embroidered pillow slippers, Miss Mildred Moody; table runner, Mrs. Sarah Griffin; pillow, Mrs. Elizabeth Barton; and cake to Mrs. Alice Frost. All members are very grateful to everyone who helped in any way.

The election of officers took place at the evening meeting, these members being chosen to carry on the affairs of the Corps for the coming year: President, Mrs. Inez Packard; vice president, Mrs. Blanche Shadle; secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Barton; treasurer, Mrs. Mae Cross; chaplain, Mrs. Ella McMillan; guard, Mrs. Elizabeth N. Mills and conductor, Mrs. Bernice Hatch.

Next Thursday will be past president's night, the regular meeting being omitted. A banquet at Hotel Thorndike will be followed by an entertainment at Grand Army hall, to which members of the Corps are invited.

"With A Cast Of 700"

Music Festival and Pageant Of Schools Will Aid the Community Building

"With a cast of 700" has a sound like one of Hollywood's productions, yet that is exactly what the public will see the night of Dec. 13 when the school children of Rockland present their annual festival under direction of Mrs. Esther Stevenson Rogers with the co-operation of the teachers and parents.

The great pageant will be presented in Community Building, the only place where such a large scale show could be attempted. The first chorus will comprise 300 youthful voices from the lower grades, daintily costumed. Another strong chorus have been chosen from the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades in numbers of amazing beauty. While the fine choruses will be presented on the stage, this section of the program will be followed by a beautiful Christmas operetta, with all the trappings—white bunnies, soldiers, brownies and all, brave in gay tinsel and bright costumes.

This magnificent entertainment will be public, but the charge has purposely been made very modest so that no parent be kept away. The entire proceeds will be turned over to Community Building operations as the gift of the children of the city, helping to keep open the Building and make possible benefits for the boys and girls of today and tomorrow.

Henry P. White.

Rockland, Jan. 29, 1932.

[The first annual dinner of the Octavo Club, referred to in Mr. White's letter, was held at the St. Nicholas Hotel, now Hotel Rockland, March 29, 1932, and the menu shows that the members had epicurean as well as literary tastes. The members of the Octavo Club were O. C. Hall, president, W. T. Cobb, vice president; H. P. White, secretary; True P. Pierce, F. E. Hitchcock, W. O. Fuller Jr., A. Sidney Snow and Charles E. "NOT BAD LOOKING"

A poverty-stricken Cumberland Maryland, 20 announced Thursday that she would marry "any respectable man in the world" for $500 cash.

She wrote Gov. Barrows for assistance in finding a Maine husband, saying there would be "tears instead of cheer" in her family at Christmas if enough money to finance an operation for her dangerously ill mother could not be found.

The girl said she was too proud to accept charity, and added: "I am not at all bad looking." In fact she wrote, some persons had compared her not unfavorably to the late Jean Harlow.

Beyond commenting that he admired the girl's judgment in seeking a Maine husband, the Governor was non-committal.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Representative Albert B. Elliot of Thomaston was in Augusta yesterday to interview George W. Leadbetter in regard to Old Age Pensions. He learned that it will be necessary to fill out new applications, regardless of whether other applications, have been made or not, and he advises that the sooner this is taken care of the sooner the cases will be investigated. Applications may be made by writing to the Division of Old Age Assistance, 327 Water street, Augusta.

Mr. Leadbetter offered the interesting information that the Department expects to be paying 4500 pensioners by January, and that by January, 1939, there will be 13,700 pensioners on the rolls in this State. Representative Elliot authorizes The Courier-Gazette to say that he will be glad to aid anybody in making out applications. His office is in the Dunn & Elliot Co. on the Thomaston waterfront. His telephone call is "Thomaston, No. 5."

An Old Time Letter

Written In 1882 By the Late Henry P. White, Then On The Courier Staff

Characteristic of a period which has now become hardly more than a memory, is the letter written by Henry P. White, to his mother in Belfast in January, 1882. Mr. White, who later became a very successful journalist in Farmington, and whose death in that town was recently announced, was on the staff of the Rockland Courier, at the time the letter was written. The extracts here made will doubtless prove of much interest to older readers of this paper:

Business is such that every moment is now precious. The Courier-Gazette has started under the most favorable circumstances and the first number has received many complimentary notices. The edition was exhausted before an hour had passed and the demand afterwards reached 300 copies, which could not be supplied.

The weekly meeting of the Octavo Club was held Thursday with a varied and interesting program, consisting of an original story "The Mysterious Visitor" by H. P. White; an epigram and an epitaph on two of the members and a paper on Richard Savage.

After the literary feast, Dr. Hitchcock surprised us with an invitation to his private office where a table had been set for eight. It was most tastefully and elaborately arranged with flowers and fruits. A colored servant passed the feast for the inner man, which consisted of oysters in every style, fruit and other delicacies.

Costs followed and responses were made. Judge Hall read an excellent and witty poem on "The Baby" which was received with much applause. The evening was withal the pleasantest and most profitable we have yet had.

Next Friday will be the 26th anniversary of W. O. Fuller Jr.'s birthday and he then will entertain the club at his father's house. We anticipate a pleasant time and a fine program is in preparation. Such life is truly my ideal. I wish for more and need more of it.

I have finished Draper's "Conflict Between Religion and Science." Mr. Draper is a gentleman of wide and cosmopolitan intelligence and he handles the subject in a masterly manner from the beginning of the Christian era to the problem of today, showing the discussions, discussions, wars, councils, fallacies, etc.

In the current number of the Eclectic Magazine is an admirable paper on "Organic Evolution," which I read with much interest. Volume 2 of "American Men of Letters" has just been issued by the press of Houghton, Mifflin Co. The subject is "Noah Webster" by Horace E. Scudder. It is a lively entertaining little work and brings out many facts which I have not seen before.

Prof. Fisher contributes a readable paper on the "Christian Religion" to the North American Review. We have all the magazines and reviews, so if you wish any to read speak for them; not like a dog, however.

Can you tell me what my claim in the Geneva award amounts to? With-out interest, I mean. It seems that Mr. Sherman turned the whole amount into the treasury in 1877 and paid a portion of the public debt with it. If the bill as reported from the Judiciary passes Congress, an appropriation of $9,000,000 will have to be made, and we shall get our claims.

Henry P. White.

Rockland, Jan. 29, 1932.

[The first annual dinner of the Octavo Club, referred to in Mr. White's letter, was held at the St. Nicholas Hotel, now Hotel Rockland, March 29, 1932, and the menu shows that the members had epicurean as well as literary tastes. The first course was Providence River oysters on the half shell, and from that time until the last dessert had been served there were 60 articles for the consideration of the diners. The members of the Octavo Club were O. C. Hall, president, W. T. Cobb, vice president; H. P. White, secretary; True P. Pierce, F. E. Hitchcock, W. O. Fuller Jr., A. Sidney Snow and Charles E. Littlefield. Mr. Fuller, now wintering in Miami, Fla., is the sole survivor of the group.—Ed.]

"NOT BAD LOOKING"

A poverty-stricken Cumberland Maryland, 20 announced Thursday that she would marry "any respectable man in the world" for $500 cash.

She wrote Gov. Barrows for assistance in finding a Maine husband, saying there would be "tears instead of cheer" in her family at Christmas if enough money to finance an operation for her dangerously ill mother could not be found.

The girl said she was too proud to accept charity, and added: "I am not at all bad looking." In fact she wrote, some persons had compared her not unfavorably to the late Jean Harlow.

Beyond commenting that he admired the girl's judgment in seeking a Maine husband, the Governor was non-committal.

Fun Starts Tuesday

Rockport Goes To Thomaston For Opening Game In Basketball League

Knox-Lincoln Basketball League will get under way with the Rockport boys and girls playing the Thomaston teams at Thomaston next Tuesday.

The opening game of the League is always an interesting one as rival coaches are on hand to get a "line" on their future opponents. This year's opening game should be no exception, because one of the four teams are in the run for the championship and possibly more.

Rockport girls, with several veterans back and a new coach, are anxious to start the season with a win over the last year champs, Coach Sturtevant's squad, an entirely green team, has worked into excellent shape and will try to continue the brilliant record of not suffering a League defeat in two years of play. It should be a great game with both clubs apparently well matched.

The boys' game will find Coach Wood's lads being installed the favorites to win as several of last year's club that defeated Rockport twice are back. Thomaston has defeated Rockport four times in the past two years and will try to continue the good work against the Red and White lads. Upham, Merrill, Anderson and Esvel will be in the starting line-up with Suomela or L. Overlock being the fifth man.

Rockport, with a new coach, will try to break into the win column and perhaps with a few breaks, may be able to score a win over the Pikes. It promises to be a good opening game.

A Junior Varsity game will be played between the Rockport and Thomaston boys at 6:30.

Begins Life Term

Dwyer of South Paris, Who Killed Doctor and Wife, Now In Prison

Paul Dwyer, the South Paris boy, who sprang a surprise in Oxford County Superior Court Thursday by retracting his plea of "not guilty" and confessing to the dual strangling of Dr. and Mrs. James G. Littlefield, walked serenely into the State Prison guard room yesterday afternoon, apparently as calm and unconcerned as though he had not just said farewell to freedom, and was about to begin a life stretch.

Incidentally he booked in as the 336th convict, the largest prison population in the history of the State's penal institution.

Dwyer was brought to Thomaston by Warden John H. Welch and Guard Elmer Ingalls. His arrival was an hour or two earlier than had been expected, and very few persons outside of the prison officials were aware that the most talked about criminal in recent years had come to the institution.

Dwyer went through the usual routine—first a bath, then being turned over to the commissary, Eugene O'Connell, for one of the regulation uniforms. He was placed in a segregated cell where he will remain until the finding of the blood test is returned from the State Laboratory. He will then be assigned to a vocation.

Dwyer was very reserved on the trip from South Paris, answering questions in monosyllables. He did tell Warden Welch that he had not wanted to stand trial; and when asked to name a preference for reading matter said he would like detective stories.

A County Winner

Mrs. Overlock of Washington Receives Valued Prize In the A. & P. Contest

Editor of The Courier-Gazette: In looking over your paper of Nov. 30 I noticed and read the article on "Ann Page Prizes" and would like to add my bit to the article. Mrs. Clara Overlock (correspondent for your valuable paper) is proudly displaying a nice set of Pyrex Stove and Ovenware which she received last week from the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company as a winner in its $55,000 contest which is now in progress.

Mrs. Overlock did not enter the contest until the fifth week and the first entry sent was a winner selected from the thousands of letters received by the company during the week ending Oct. 16 in which Pyrex wares sets were given to 350 winners. Mrs. Overlock happily being one of them.

I. M. West Washington, Dec. 1.

The art exhibit committee of the Hobby Show requests that all pictures to be at Community building Monday. If unable to deliver your entry, call Mrs. Flora Merchant, Tel. 907-W.

It Was Bliss

But Not the Kind Thomaston Wanted — Home Teams Lose Two Games

Bliss College proved to be too strong for the High School boys and girls and won both games at Thomaston Thursday night. The Bliss girls won 5 to 17 and the Bliss boys came through on the long end of a 26-23 score, but only after a hectic battle, which required an overtime period.

The girls game was well played. Bliss led all the way mainly through the efforts of the two star forwards, Colburn and Barker.

Bliss boys ran into what proved to be an inspired Pikes club that showed plenty of fight and some real basketball. It was a nip-and-tuck affair with the Pikes on the long end of the score for the first three quarters. Score at the end of the first period, 7-2, at half, 13-10, with Pikes still out in front. After a fast third period the score read 19-18 with Pikes leading. A great defensive last period found both clubs fighting for everything. At the end of the regulation time, the two teams were tied 23 to 23. After a five-minute intermission the two teams resumed battle and Bliss scored a foul and a field goal to win one of the best games ever witnessed on the T.H.S. floor.

Crosby High Girls

The Crosby High School girls team, which is scheduled to meet Rockport, Camden and Rockland, looks forward to a good season. The Belfast Journal says:

All have had plenty of experience in actual playing, and are ready to start the season. The guards consist of Mary Read, Mildred Doak, Preppa Staples, Pearl Hart. These girls are also tried and true vets. Mildred Rostedt, a new comer from Ellsworth High, seems to be shaping into a good guard. Miss Rostedt is also entered in the veteran ranks as she played on the very good Ellsworth squad. The squad for 37-38: Seniors: Mary Read, Mildred Doak, Carolyn Barber, Elizabeth Bailey, Mildred Rostedt, Hilda Sprague, Preppa Staples and Gladys Hall. CAMDEN HILLS CAMP

The Camden CCC Camp went to Rockland to play basketball at the Armory against the National Guard. Although the CCC boys were too much for their opponents, Rockland played a fast and clean game. The game was strictly refereed and fair decisions were given both teams. By winning this game the Camden CCC piled up its third consecutive win this season.

The purpose of the organization is prevention of deafness if possible and amelioration for those who cannot be cured. For Aldermen
The Republicans Present a Well Balanced Slate Of Nominees

The Republicans of Rockland will vote Monday on a well balanced slate of aldermen supporting Edward R. Veazie, nominee for mayor.

In Ward One Louis R. Cates, is a candidate for a second term. His first two years showed him possessing the qualities so necessary in a good alderman, serving his city well.

In Ward Two Capt. John Bernet is also making a second term run. "Watchdog of the city's treasury" he has been prudent and careful of every municipal expenditure. In Ward Two "Cap'n John" has a truly extraordinary hold on the people's affection and their loyalty will express itself in a great vote for him Monday next.

In Ward Three the Young Republicans present a candidate in the person of Francis D. Orne who is also chairman of the Republican City Committee. Francis Orne is a graduate of Rockland High School and of Bryant & Stratton Business School in Boston. At present he is a member of the firm of Arthur L. Orne, Inc. insurance brokers.

Ward Four presents an extremely busy man for his candidate, Ernest L. Quinn, manager of the William Underwood Co. sardine packing company and is very properly called "the people's candidate" working as he does with hundreds of employees.

In Ward Five everybody knows and admires William J. "Bill" Sullivan, veterans of dozens of campaigns and probably the best informed man available on city affairs, due to his long and efficient service in both branches. He will be a bulwark of strength to the next mayor in any event for he is the choice of both parties in "Five."

In Ward Six a militant fight for aldermanic honors is being waged by Irving C. MacBride. He has strong ideas as to the service an alderman should render his constituents and is definitely pledged to fight to a finish any project to which Ward Six voters object.

In Ward Seven Simon H. Crosby, old line conservative Republican carries the aldermanic banner for his party. His life work as an electrician has taken him into hundreds of homes and given him the point of view of thousands of taxpayers and home owners.

These are the men who the Republican party hopes and believes, will serve the municipality the next two years.
Republicans are reminded once again that if they wish transportation in any ward or need information of any sort on election day, simply telephone 521.

Canton Lafayette and Auxiliary met Wednesday, a roast beef supper, with Mrs. Susie Davis, as chairman preceding the meetings. Mrs. F. Helen Paladino, who received the Decoration of Chivalry from the Department of Maine, Patriarch's Militant, I.O.O.F. at Bangor in October, was admitted to membership in the Auxiliary. Officers elected were: Captain, Leroy Mank; lieutenant, Jesse Carroll; ensign, Neil Karl; clerk, Milton Rollins; accountant, Nestor Brown. In the Auxiliary, President, Mrs. Lena Rollins; vice president, Mrs. Florence Haverer; secretary, Mrs. Doris Hyler; treasurer, Mrs. Constance MacPinal. A public installation will take place at the January meeting, when the Cantons and Auxiliaries of Augusta, Camden and Belfast will be guests. Chevaliers were present from Camden.

The Auxiliary to Anderson Camp met Wednesday with a tacking in the afternoon, supper and election of officers. These officers were elected: Mrs. Doris Ames, president; Mrs. Mae Cross, secretary; Mrs. Carrie Winchenbaugh, chaplain; Mrs. Velma Marsh, guide; Mrs. Gladys Thomas, assistant guide; Miss Ruth Rogers and Miss Frances Hatch co. bearers, 1 and 2; Mrs. Josephine Lohrop, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Elizabeth Bart, past president. Trustees, Elizabeth Barton, Velma Marsh, Helen Paladino, Nat. delegate, Mae Cross; alternate, Doris Ames. An invitation has been extended the Auxiliary to attend supper and installation of George S. Cobb Auxiliary in Camden Friday night. Mrs. Nellie Achorn of Rockland will be installing officer.

The regular meeting of Ruth Mayhew Tent, D.U.V. will be preceded by the annual fair in Grand Army hall Monday afternoon with a public supper at 6. Mrs. Priscilla Smith, general chairman. Fancy and useful articles and cooked food will be found in the booths presided over by Mrs. Maude Cables, Mrs. Ailie Blackington, Mrs. Lizzie French, Mrs. Carrie Brown, assisted by other willing workers. A beano booth promises the usual attraction. At the business session officers will be chosen, plans for a benefit dance and Christmas boxes made to dispose of. Members are reminded of their articles for "sunshine boxes" to be sent to our shut-ins at this time. Mrs. Rebecca Ingraham and Mrs. Amanda Choate, honorary members, will be special supper guests.

Republicans wishing transportation to the polls Monday to any part of the city need only to telephone 521 for prompt service. Any information desired may also be obtained at 521.—adv.

To Shake Rockland

Capt. Duncan, Scotch Evangelist, Hints At "Hot Stuff" In His Sermons

Friday night Captain Duncan the Scotch Evangelist who is at the Salvation Army took for his subject "Timeless Life." A fine audience followed with rapt attention as the Captain in a brief resume of world religions showed how all religions made their adherents time-conscious.

The Captain then proceeded to show how in the secular life we are all slaves to the clock and Father Time the tyrannical despot who drives us all. When Jesus came He brought a new kind of life called Eternal Life. Some thought it was just longevity but this was only its by-product. The Captain defined it as "Spontaneous Life" made up of "A Spontaneous Impulse," "Spontaneous Thought" and "Spontaneous Talent." With apt illustration the Captain stirred all hearts to seek this kind of life to be found alone in Jesus.

Beginning tonight Captain Duncan will start a series of talks on "In-bred Sin, or Sins of the Disposition." His selection of topics follows: Saturday night, "Social Security be Damned," at 8; Sunday morning, "Cursed Respectability," at 11; Sunday night "The American Dictator," at 8. The truths of this series of addresses will shake Rockland. In connection with the visit of Captain Duncan to Rockland he will conduct the monthly meeting at the Thomaston State Prison.

Young people reminded of the contest now in progress in the Sunday School, are told of a very good showing and advised to keep up the good work.
Miss Margaret Reid is spending a few days at her home in Tenant's Harbor.
The Knox, Lincoln & Waldo Clearing House Association dined at The Thorndike Hotel Thursday night, 16 of the members being present.
James McDonnell, who substituted as manager of the Western Union office while Manager Gardner was having his vacation, went from here to the Providence office.

King Hiram's Council goes Tuesday on a pilgrimage to Portland where it is to exemplify the work of the council. It is estimated that 700 Council members from all parts of the State will be present. Cars will leave Masonic Temple at 1 o'clock.

"A Child's Story of the World," by Donald Curores Peattie, is illustrated by Naomi Averill (Mrs. Edward Elmer of Thomaston). One of the illustrations appeared in a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor.

SERMONETTE

Sarah, An Angry Woman
For real human interest stories—where can you find them more vividly than in the Bible? Away back in the very morning of history came the story of Sarah and Hagar. Abraham had a son by his wife's maid, Hagar.

There were no clandestine meetings such as we are familiar with in our day. No secret triangle, for Abraham's wife being old and desponding of childbirth herself, sent Abraham in to the maid. In these early days men of substance had several wives and often many maids. The world was very young.

This commonplace event would have passed unnoticed in the stream of time, if the maid Hagar had not despised the childless wife. Sarah complained to plained to Abraham but he, calm and wise, said to Sarah "Behold, thy maid do to her as it please thee," and Sarah dealt hardly with her and she fled into the wilderness. Here the angel of the Lord found her and told her to return to her mistress—"Thou shalt bear a child and he will be a wild man; his hand will be against every man, and every man's hand against him; and his name shall be called Ishmael."

Hagar's son was born and a few years later God gave a son to Sarah when she was very old. Sarah was very happy and when her child was old enough to wear Abraham made a great feast but Sarah saw Hagar's son mocking and she was very angry. The impact of her anger reaches to our times.

ANNUAL REPORTS OF THE CITY OF ROCKLAND For the Year Ending October 31, 1937

CITY AUDITOR'S REPORT

Rockland, Maine, Nov. 15, 1937.
To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council of Rockland, Maine:
Your Auditor reports as follows for the year ending October 31, 1937:

The books and accounts of those City Officials, entrusted with the handling of funds of the City, have been examined and approved.

The City Council once more presents to the tax-payers a balanced budget.

The past year has again shown a reduction of the net City debt, which now stands at $300,831.62, a reduction during the past eight years of nearly $100,000.00, which showing should be gratifying to our tax-payers.

The elimination of doubtful assets has continued throughout the year and should be followed until they are entirely disposed of and the report of the assets of the City reflect its exact financial condition.

Respectfully submitted,

J. E. Stevens, City Auditor.

But They Caused Skippers To Win—Some Startling Recommendations

You could count on the fingers of one hand, (if you counted your thumb) all the difference that separated the scores of the Skippers and the Ganders after their weekly roll-a-bout at the Cascade Alleys Monday night. Although the scores were small they were so close that a premature verdict went out that the Ganders had won and there was some chagrin and gnashing of teeth when the final check up was announced, differently.

There was nothing very spectacular about the match if possibly you except Skip Arey's toboggan to a 77 in his last string and Grimes' 101 in his first (each of these being a nine-day's wonder), but as the match neared its end the old tension and excitement was there just the same.

After Cap'n Grimes got away to his head start it looked as if he might fish a few segars from one Peterson, but as Pete grew progressively better and Grimes progressively worse their private grudge fight ended up by being just another case where Grimes paid and paid and paid.

The Goose had to give up "the lead" temporarily, as Shields nosed him out and put him down a peg to second place. Gene Hall slipped one over on the boys by sliding out from under cellar door and showing Scottie Littlefield down into nether regions, while Link Sanborn had one foot in the passageway and escaped only by a narrow squeak. Gene says he is distracted too much by what goes on outside the alleys and is making a pair of blinders something similar to what horses wear. With this device he figures he can pay strict attention to what goes on down the alley and raise his average a few pins. Gene has some recommendations for some of the other bowlers, too, which he thinks would be of benefit.

For Link Sanborn, a tall one would make things look different sometimes, for Scottie a check rein to keep his chin up, for Grimes a real good cigar should work wonders and make a new man of him, while for Barney he recommends a rag. For Peterson another coat to wear while bowling, a good thick mackinaw should help a lot, and for Shields another coat to take off while bowling should keep him in exercise and his arm hot. For the Goose he recommends he go lay an egg and for the Skip he suggests a pair of mittens to keep his hands warm so he won't have to keep blowing on them all the time, while he thinks an Ex-La x should fix the "P. M." up so he can bowl a satisfactory score.

To check up on these suggestions watch this column for the bowling scores.

We often wonder if we presented the same problems to our parents as the children of today do to theirs. Naturally parents think that they have something to say in directing the destinies of their offspring. But just as naturally the children inevitably have their own ideas as to said destinies and more often than not the old and young clash in their ideas. Thus the dominating and successful Herbert Kainess finds himself for his lovely children don't seem to agree with him about anything, and to crown his sorrow his devoted wife takes the side of the offspring. To us it looks as if Herbert hasn't a chance, but he seems to think he has until his wife and children put one over on him that leaves him speechless in his defeat.

This charming hilarious story in the form of a play, entitled "Big Hearted Herbert," will be presented by the Senior Class at the High School auditorium next Thursday and Friday evenings. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Senior Class and seats will be checked Dec. 8, 9 and 10, at Chisholm's.

The young people will be in possession of the tower room for a private dancing party tonight.

It looks good 'o' nights to see the big plant lighted and functioning in its task of turning out good men and women for Rockland's tomorrow. That is one of the city's most important and the whole future of the Community depends upon the building of thinking, earnest citizens who will do their part and accept their civic responsibilities.

Rooms at The Building as well as the auditorium are available at all times. The East room is $3 for a session. The beautiful tower room, ideal for social, club or dancing parties is $4 an afternoon or $5 for an evening. The auditorium is $25 and extra $10 being necessary when the stage is used due to the extremely heavy electric load. Inquiries may be made at The Courier-Gazette, tel. 770, from Mayor Thurston, tel. 657 or A. F. McAlary, tel. 634. The tower room is not available for public dances.

Excellent progress is being made on the installation of the bowling alleys and in a fortnight now they should be ready for the opening. The pool and billiard room will not be put into operation until after Community Food Fair as that large space designed to eventually hold five pool and billiard tables, will be used for beano.

The cast of "Big Hearted Herbert," Senior play rehearsed yesterday afternoon on Community Building stage due to pressure of work in Junior and Senior High Schools which kept the school auditorium busy.

The pageant of Dec. 15 in which 700 children of the Rockland schools will participate, will be a show of extraordinary beauty. The costumes, singing and the Christmas opera will go to make a most colorful picture. Pupils, teachers and parents are co-operating 100 percent in this splendid pageant, the proceeds of which will be devoted to The Building.

Basketball is much in evidence these days with the boys teams practicing daily 3.30-5.30 and the girls teams Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays 6.30 to 8. These hours prevail when the auditorium is not hired.

The stress of the recently closed revival campaign necessitated two

Old Man Schooner, where have you been?
Where will you go from here?
What harbors strange have you anchored in?
To what far port do you steer?

Your cargo stowed in Spain?
Did the spray of the four seas drench your decks

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hill and Mrs. R. T. Sterling motored Tuesday afternoon to Steep Falls.

Santa Claus arrived in Portland last Saturday afternoon and was a busy man. Little tots were out in full force.

Keeper and Mrs. Elliott of Cape Elizabeth Light recently called on F. O. Hill and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Sterling and son Robert were guests Thanksgiving Day of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sterling of Peaks Island.

Clyde Grant of Cape Elizabeth Coast Guard Station and Willard Hill motored to St. George last Saturday, returning home Sunday. Mrs. Grant and daughter Patricia were callers Monday evening on Mrs. Hill.

Keeper and Mrs. A. J. Beal, Miss Eleanor Beal of White Head Light and Richard Goff of Westbrook called last Saturday on the F. O. Hill family.

Outdoor checker games are few and far between these cool days. Hunting rats is the present pastime—game is plentiful.

Mrs. Sterling and Mrs. Hill were guests Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Mitchell in Falmouth Foreside where Mrs. Mitchell was hostess to members of the Good Timers Club at dinner. At the business meeting officers were elected. Mrs. Mitchell entertained in her new home and in a pleasing manner Mrs. W. C. Dow in behalf of the company presented Mrs. Mitchell with an appropriate gift, followed by an original poem by Mrs. George Soule.

John S. Robinson keeps busy with school work and basketball.

Purcell Corbett has returned to the CCC Camp in Princeton after passing a week at his home here.

Mrs. William Corbett and daughter Florence were recent callers on friends and relatives in town.

Miss Ruth Corbett returned Sunday to Machias after spending Thanksgiving at her Light Station home.

Keeper Corbett has made a supply of fine pork from his 300-pound pig. The Verna G. of which Capt. Bickford of Vinal Haven is master, is anchored in the harbor.

Miss Florence Corbett will leave soon for Florida where she has employment as cook for the winter.

Manana Fog Signal Station

Excitement has been plentiful here in the past two months. Mr. and Mrs. Foss moved to Monhegan and Mr. Singer was made keeper. Residents in this vicinity are fine neighbors and we greatly enjoy their company. Little Henley is a playmate for Nancy and Mrs. Day and I have our hands full keeping them out of mischief.

Playing bridge, with of course refreshments afterward, has kept us pleasantly occupied. As Christmas approaches we are busily engaged in crocheting gifts.

Henley, Jr. had a birthday Nov. 28 and we celebrated it in grand style. Mr. Singer and Mr. Day made ice cream; as Henley ordered "cherry fwp" that is exactly what he got and he enjoyed it to the full.

Mr. Flannigan and Mr. Stuckert were here nearly three weeks while working on the radio beacon. They went home for Thanksgiving, but Mr. Flannigan returned Wednesday to finish the job. "Tom," as everyone knows him has met him, is a lot of fun. He and Celia are great cribbage fans.

Mrs. Singer's two eldest brothers are now married. Fred having been married to Miss Mabel Munroe recently. They kept house for Mr. and Mrs. Battys during the latter's visit here. We were highly pleased to have the Battys as guests for it was the first time we had seen them since May.

Idella Marie was seriously ill this fall but is much better and growing fast now. She is a joy to us all and we are planning a big Christmas tree for her and the two other children.

Mr. Singer's mother arrived here Oct. 2—just in time to help us move. We enjoy having her here as it is a lonesome place during the long winter. As soon as Mother arrives, the sewing and crocheting starts and here's hoping it will continue for months. Orrin Linscott and Capt. Harvey Black brought Mrs. Singer from Orr's Island. At the last minute "Bobby" Linscott decided he wanted to come too. We were delighted to have him as he is a dear little boy and so sweet. He is a regular fisherman and wanted to stay aboard the boat so he could fish late and early the next morning, but we finally tucked him away on a mattress in the room with his father and Harvey. "Bobby" is nine years old but one would think to hear his talk, that he was 29 at least.

We were glad to learn that Frank Faulkingham and Olive Faulkingham visited Mr. and Mrs. Battys recently. They are old friends and it is so pleasant to keep in touch with one another. Mother too, was happy to see them. Call again, Frank and Olive whenever you have the chance.

Mrs. Adolph Stevens has returned to Monhegan after passing six months in a hospital and at her mother's home. She has been gravely ill but is gradually recovering.

Mrs. Singer goes ashore today to undergo a tonsil operation but will precede it with a bit of Christmas shopping. Isn't that a dandy vacation? Cheer up, better days are coming.

Mrs. Strout's Paper "Music In Minnesota" Featured Yesterday's Meeting

Mrs. Grace Strout substituting for Mrs. Walker, presented a very interesting program of music at the meeting of the Rubinstein Club last night. Her excellent paper on "Music in the State of Minnesota" was given in a charming manner and revealed many interesting facts in connection with the geographical and historical statistics of that State. Mrs. Strout said in part:

"Our nation has such a cosmopolitan life that the study of the development of music by States is most interesting. Tonight we visit Minnesota, the State whose great influx of Swedish and Norwegian people offers us a spoke in our cosmopolitan wheel. When the scheme of considering music by States first occurred to me, it appeared that the writers of papers would have an easy season. I knew that several worthy articles had been written on Music in Maine and did not give Maine the credit of being unique in this respect. I boldly approached the presidents of several State Federations of Music Clubs for guidance to similar volumes, only to be informed by every last one of them that no such volume existed. We have heard the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra on the radio and the St. Olaf Lutheran Choir of Minnesota, is the most outstanding musical organization, not only of that State, but, according to critics of the world. This choir is entirely an outgrowth of Norwegian immigration and appeared in Portland in 1935."

A delightful feature of the evening was the appearance of the young guest pianist, Miss Laura Meserve of Augusta (a cousin of Mrs. Strout) who gave her selections with rare poise and finished technique. For 11 years she has been a pupil of Miss Caroline Fennel Chase, State Junior Counselor of the M.P. of M.C. Miss Meserve responded to an encore giving by request "Au Claire de Lune," by Debussy.

Several Norwegian dolls in native costume were displayed, the subject matter of the program being taken from the Scandinavian. The numbers presented were all Swedish and Norwegian selections. Being unable to give individual praise this much must be said, the pleasing renditions were a real credit to all participants.

come guest last weekend. She was a great friend of Mrs. Singer's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cavanaugh. Mrs. Stevens came here either 47 or 48 years ago and has spent most of her life in this country on Manana and Monhegan. She went first to Ram Island Light where Mr. Cavanaugh was keeper and later came here; we have always been friends. Mrs. Stevens went Tuesday to Boothbay Harbor to pass the winter with friends.

Mother Singer received a box for Thanksgiving from Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Williams of Norwalk, Conn. It contained fruit and all sorts of tasty things for the holiday feast. It was a wonderful treat and everyone on Manana shared it. The children also received a box at Halloween and were delighted with pumpkins, books, toys and other articles for having a good time. It certainly is nice to have such fine friends.

"Happy holidays" to all along the coast. We shall write again.

WHITE HEAD

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. H. Andrews of the engagement of their granddaughter, Miss Margaret L. Hall of Hartford, formerly of Rockland, and Nortons Island. The wedding will take place in the near future.

R. E. Scott of Tenants Harbor is at H. W. Andrews' for a few days.

Keeper and Mrs. A. J. Beale and Miss Eleanor Beale of the light spent the holiday weekend visiting relatives and friends in Westbrook and vicinity.

Mrs. Florian Curtis and friends motored from Biddeford Pool recently and visited Mr. Curtis at the Coast Guard for the afternoon.

Mrs. J. K. Lowe has moved her household goods from Rockcliffe Island to Spruce Head village and will occupy her new home on Milesad Hill.

Mr. Pettigrew, surftman at the local Coast Guard returned to the station Tuesday after several days' stay in Portland.

H. W. Andrews is having extensive repairs made on his residence at Norton's Island. Charles Butler of Clark Island spent several days at the Andrews home recently and assisted in the work.

Mr. and Mrs. John Simmons of Rockcliffe Island spent last weekend in Rockland.

Mrs. William Davis of Rockcliffe Island has been guest of Mrs. Charles Butler at Clark Island.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Beal and daughters Janice and Connie of Rockland passed two days of Mr. Beal's furlough with Mr. and Mrs. Andrews.

"Finnish Founders"

Meaning of the Delaware Tercentenary of Finnish Americans Is Explained

In the last session of Congress a resolution was passed authorizing and instructing the President of the United States to extend an invitation to the Government of Finland and individuals—the same as to the government of Sweden and individuals—"to unite with the Government and people of the United States in a fitting and appropriate observance of the three-hundredth anniversary of the first permanent settlement of Swedish and Finnish colonists in Delaware, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey." Pursuant to this resolution, the President has extended an invitation to Finland, as he has done in the case of Sweden.

The meaning of this resolution and the celebration to us Finnish Americans is significant. The resolution is an official recognition of the historical fact "that the Finns were one of four nations that helped to settle the Original Thirteen States of the Union, the other three being the English, the Dutch, and the Swedes." The celebration next June of the three-hundredth anniversary of the Swedish and Finnish settlement affords Finnish Americans a fitting and appropriate opportunity to "impress the American people with the fact" that the Finnish people are not merely of recent immigration, but that their blood has coursed in the veins of the American people since the earliest days of American history.

The disclosure and recognition of our early antecedents is important and clarifying not alone to American as a whole, but also to the present-day Finnish Americans, especially to those of us who have lived here since childhood, and even to those who are of the second and third generation.

Our ancestral and historical background in Finland to most of us is vague, and we have not been aware of our early traditions here; we have been estranged from our forefathers in Finland, and our proximate family roots in the American soil are still on the surface—in other words, we have lacked so to speak, the sense of historical continuity and ancestral anchorage. This sense of lack of tradition and shallow rootage has made us feel that there is a hiatus, a gap, in our historical sequence; that we do not belong to Finland, nor are we yet really of the soil and soul of this land.

We are, of course, Americans, in heart and spirit; but we have lacked that assured home feeling, the sense of belonging, which, for instance an Englishman has. No matter how recently an Englishman has arrived, he feels and boasts that this is his country; that his people have originally settled and developed this land, and hence, by reason of kinship he is an American and not a foreigner.

We have often met these boastful and patriotic spirits, who have insinuated that we are, of course, foreigners. These invidious imputations have often been depressing especially to the youth, who are more sensitive. Yet, there was nothing we could say. We have known that the English had colonized most of this country; that their descendants had helped to found this Republic and develop this great land. We have not known, until lately, that the Finns had had any part in the colonizations of this country, nor that their descendants had helped to found this Republic, and except the more recent converts, have helped to develop this nation.

But the historical evidence, as recently revealed, fundamentally changes our position in American history. This fact has been recognized by our government, and it has been declared by legal action that the Finns, the people of our nationality, are one of the original colonizers of this country, and that their descendants have participated in the founding of this Republic and in the development of this land since the earliest days of American history.

We know now that the blood of our people has flowed in the veins of the American people since the dawn of the country's civilization; that the roots of the Finnish people penetrate to the deepest strata of the American soil and, therefore, our anchorage is secure; and that our historical background in America is unbroken, running back as far as the early colonial period. We can now read and study the history of our country with the same exultation, the same spirit and feeling of pride of belonging as any other people; for we know that the history of this country is, in part, the history of our own people, and that we are no more foreigners than any of the other people that make up this great nation. This is the meaning of the Delaware Tercentenary Celebration to Finnish Americans.

.... This celebration, indeed, is the most auspicious moment in the annals of Finnish Americans. Let us, every man, woman and child, whether we were born here or in Finland, show by our conduct and active interest that we appreciate this great honor, and that we are worthy of those pioneer kinsmen of ours who three hundred years ago risked their lives and fortunes to make for us this extraordinary event possible. Just think!

The Government of the United States, the governments of the states of Pennsylvania, Delaware, and New Jersey, have designated the occasion of this anniversary not only a national but also an international holiday, by inviting Finland, our mother country, and Sweden, our nearest of kin, to participate with us in the Celebration. Surely, we present-day Finnish Americans, the direct beneficiaries of this unusual honor and occasion, will make our participation befitting and commensurate with the honor and benefits we receive.

John Sarri.

"IT HAD TO BE DONE"

North Haven Man Invokes a Poem Affecting "Conscience Easing"

North Haven Nov. 30. Editor of The Courier-Gazette: Many times have I heard the words, "It had to be done" uttered by someone who wanted to win. They are heard in Government, in every day life. Citizens wish to have something to hide behind and try to ease their consciences by saying "It had to be done," when it was just what they wanted to do to win, regardless of its being wrong.

THE BETTER WAY

"It is better to lose with a conscience clear. Than win by a trick unfair; It is better to fail and to know you've been. Than to claim the prize was square. For it stands for a false deed done. And the cheers of the standers-by. And to know down deep in your inmost soul. A cheat you must live and die."

Who wins by trick may take the prize. And at first he may think it sweet— But many a day in the future lies When he'll wish he had met defeat. For the man who lost shall be glad at heart. And walk with his head up high: While his conqueror knows he must play the part Of a cheat and a living lie.

The prize seems fair when the fight is on. But save it is truly won. You will hate the thing when the crowds are gone. And it's better you never should reach your goal. Than ever succeed to buy At the price of knowing down in your soul That your glory is all a lie."

—Frank Beverage.

the refreshment committee and he did the job in his usual spectacular way. Ernest C. Davis appeared in a suit of bright red. Willis Ayer was also on hand with a shovel for leaning purposes. A crowd of tired men limped home that night with lame backs and aching muscles. It is said that liniment and salve advanced in price immediately, owing to unusual demand. However, the success of the affair was owing to a fine spirit of co-operation on the part of our citizens when an emergency demands it. Again in 1923 this section experienced the most severe winter on record. One storm followed another so closely it was impossible to keep highways cleared of snow. Achorn Cemetery was inaccessible on account of snow and ice. The receiving tomb at Sea View and the tool house at Achorn Cemetery were filled with the dead—a desperate situation; access to the cemetery was imperative. The city could not stand the expense of removing the snow and something must be done at once. The Mayor of the city called a meeting of citizens to discuss the situation and a shoveling bee was planned. One hundred and fifty men responded to the Mayor's proclamation for help. Men with shovels were asked to appear at the R. T. & C. Ry. on a certain day and time. The Street Railway co-operated by furnishing free transportation. The day was fine, the air biting, men worked fast and furiously to keep warm. Drifts were from 5 to 12 feet high. It was said that about 11 o'clock muscles were aching, toes were frost bitten. However, all forgot fatigue and cold when Mont Trainer shouted "Doughnuts and Coffee." Strange to say there were two men working in a remote corner of the yard and didn't know about the doughnuts and coffee until two days after the event. Bill Williams and his brother-in-law, Alex Perry were the men.
